BOOTHS FILLING WITH EXHIBITS

Products of Farm, Garden, Home and School are Fast Being Put in Place.

As we go to press on this edition, the exhibits are fast being placed in the display building, the Boys' and Girls' booths being most nearly complete and the Home Economics booths being next in completeness this morning. The display of farm and garden products raised by the boys clubs, and the canning, baking and sewing exhibit of the girls' clubs are a revelation and a testimonial to the value of organized effort.

The Boys' booth, which is tastefully decorated, displays monster squash that seem to shut out a view of other products. Then there are cabbages, cauliflowers, carrots, corn, kohlrabi, beets and potatoes, all big and beautiful specimens of their kind.

The loaves of bread in the Girls' booth rival the squashes in size, and form a most pleasing background to bakery products in great variety and uniform attractiveness. The canning display in the same booth will certainly win the approval of all the lady visitors to the Fair. Fruits and vegetables of every variety are there. These are backed by the sewing display which includes embroideries and laces of all sorts.

The building and the booths are being decorated with crepe, autumn leaves and flowers and make a fine setting for the exhibits which are now being rushed in a long stream reaching from town to the Fair building.

"LITTLE CHICAGO"

The neighbor who called Cedar City "Little Chicago" was just "kidding" us, but some day the joke's going to be on him. "Pumpkin Center" was some center, but you should take note how the visitors are gathering at Cedar City from every point of the compass. You will say "Pumpkin Center" has nothing on Cedar. A survey of the crowds and a rollcall of the counties they represent will allow you but one conclusion: Cedar City is the natural and logical gathering place for all of Southern Utah, including also Southeastern Nevada and the "Arizona Strip." Just about the whole alphabet is represented, beginning, Abraham, Beaver, Caliente, Delta, Enterprise, Fredonia, and so on to Yerington, away over in another state.

Verily, there is every promise that Cedar City on the Arrowhead Trail is to become the Junction City of Southern Utah.

Among the Fair visitors from St. George are Mr. and Mrs. Clark Watson, Clinton and Vivian Milne, Ambrose Cannon and Jack Findlay.

Mr. Leo LeBaron of Hurricane, a painter and decorator, is here assisting Cedar City to get ready for the influx of students and others this year.

"And when the conductor found out you had forgotten your purse, did he make you get off the train and walk?"

"No, only get off. He didn't seem to care whether I walked or not."

R. F. Jameson who came through Muddy valley the other day, says it is still hot down there. He claims he saw a dog chasing a jackrabbit and both were walking.

Messrs. Marion Wilkinson and Chester Foote of Nephi were in Cedar a few days the first of the week. Mr. Wilkinson, who was formerly a resident of Cedar, came to see to moving the remainder of his effects to Nephi.

"Spieler at the Fair: 'Ladies and gentlemen, you see before you the remarkable human statue in his wonderful feat of remaining absolutely motionless for forty-eight hours at a stretch!'"

"Cedar Farmer: 'Rats! I got a hired man that can beat that.'"

H. E. Woolley of Ogden has taken over the management of the dining room at the Cedars Hotel. Mr. Woolley, who has had considerable experience in hotel management, will arrange a cafe service as soon as possible and states that he intends to inaugurate a service that will meet the taste of continental travelers.

Dave Harris of Glendale is here at the fair.

Miss Laverne Mackelprang left last Monday for Las Vegas, Nev., to spend a few weeks.

Mrs. Anna M. Cox of Moapa, Nevada, is here visiting relatives and friends, and taking in the Fair.

Mrs. J. E. Waldo, formerly Miss Nan Brown, is here visiting relatives.

Bert Lamoreaux of Paragonah and William Pritchard of Parowan, prominent in County Fair activities, are here for the Fair.

Messrs. Frank L. Farnsworth, Alex McAllister and Delwin Hamblin are here from Kanab attending the Fair.

DAY BEGINS WITH WILD WEST RODEO

Heckethorne and Veater's Snappy Aggregation Offers Finest Roundup Stunts Going.

There will be riding, roping and all the best features of wildwest exhibitions. The riding will include wicked bronchos, vicious steers and bulls of immense strength and evil disposition. The roping will call for some of the quickest and most scientific work ever seen in Southern Utah. What has always proved one of the most interesting events of this exciting program is the saddling and racing of bronchos that have never been ridden before. Besides the thrill of risk, there is always a lot of funny stuff pulled off in this unique race that is as laughable as it is unexpected. At one of these contests one of the punchers who did not seem able to get the broncho assigned to him out of the bunch in any other way, dropped on the animal's back from the fence, getting one outlaw ear in his teeth and the other in his hand and hanging on until the beast gave up and let the assistant saddle him.

There is a hundred dollars waiting for the horse that cannot be ridden, besides a thousand dollars in prizes to those who do the best riding, roping, tying, bulldogging, etc. There are present many experts from California, Colorado, Arizona, Utah, and Nevada, and the events are all open to any of our local boys who want some easy money for active work.

Gordon Whitehead of St. George and well known as a baseball fan, is in Cedar City attending the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Hunt of Enterprise are here to visit relatives and witness the Fair events.

Harry Mackelprang, who has been riding for the Grand Canyon Cattle company on Kaibab forest this summer, is here to attend the Fair.

Carl Veater, the well known race horse man from Piute county, is here with the Rodeo show, but has no race horses to enter in the fair for the winter season.

NEWEST HERO TO IRISH FREEDOM

Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, and his wife and little daughter who daily visited him during his hunger strike at Brixton prison, London, where he has been sentenced to serve a term of two years, charged with disloyalty and treason.
